2. GWINTERSTEIN said that we should have every faith in UTILITY's continuing support of close relations. He also broadened his remarks about UTILITY to indicate that it was his same conviction that UTILITY would defend to all corners his past and present connections to KUBARK. At every conference which UTILITY has with members of the press, GWINTERSTEIN is present. He said the most frequent question from the press is "Don't the KUBARKers know everything about you and your organization?" UTILITY replies, always in the same vein, "An intelligence service is always constructed in such a way that no individual from the outside can have a picture of all the details of the inside." He states that the understanding approach of KUBARK to this problem has greatly assisted him. He affirms that KUBARK does not know his sources and that those things which must be kept secret have been kept secret from KUBARK as well as anyone else.
